From the desk of:
Ed Phipps

The "Short Snorter"

World War II pilots gathered signatures on currency, of those they served with, or even met in their travels.

It is said that some taped together enough bills to reach several feet.

I don't know how the "Short Snorter" idea originated, but our C.A.P. group was inducted into it during our service on anti-submarine patrol at Civil Coastal Patrol Base #2, Rehoboth Beach.

Most of these are of people with whom I served, but there are several post war signatures, also.

H.E.P.

A Baltimore Area Soaring Society Member
A Gold Club Leader

From the desk of:
Ed Phipps

The "Short Snorter"

World War II pilots gathered signatures on currency, of those they served with, or even met in their travels.

It is said that some taped together enough bills to reach several feet.

I don't know how the "Short Snorter" idea originated, but our C.A.P. group was inducted into it during our service on anti-submarine patrol at Civil Coastal Patrol Base #2, Rehoboth Beach.

Most of these are of people with whom I served, but there are several post war signatures, also.

H.E.P.

A Baltimore Area Soaring Society Member
A Gold Club Leader