Applications for the Colo. Wing 1967 Summer Encampment are now being sent to squadron staffs, according to Major Abe Ohr, Encampment Commander.

The encampment will be held June 18-25, inclusive, at Lowry AFB.

Summer Encampment provides a wonderful opportunity for male and female CAP cadets to improve their knowledge of our aerospace world and become better members of CAP, states Maj. Ohr. "And more than that, it's fun!", he says.

Due to facility restrictions this year, only a limited number of cadets can be accepted into the program. Applications will be accepted on a first-come, first-served basis. Cost is $15 per cadet, and a check for this amount must be made out to "1967 Summer Encampment, Civil Air Patrol" must accompany each application. Applications must be completed in full, then submitted to Squadron COs for approval. They should then be immediately forwarded, with check, to Summer Encampment, Wing HQ.

A full week's activity has been planned for cadets, says Major Ohr. Included in the schedule is a trip to Colorado Springs and AF facilities in the area; and another trip to Buckley Field, where cadets will learn about the latest op-

The 1967 Annual Colorado Wing Conference will be held at the Village Inn Motel, Glenwood Springs, 20-21 May, 1967. Make your plans now to attend.

One outcome of the meeting was a proposal to establish a cadet council on the national level.
INSPECTION HELD AT GRAND JCT.

Annual Wing Inspection was held for Group Six on Sunday, April 9, at Walker Field in Grand Junction. Above, cadets in the Group are reviewed by senior members at far left: Lt. Col. Herbert L. Shearer, Deputy Wing Commander; Lt. Col. Seymour Beitscher, Wing Inspector; and Maj. Edling from Group 6. While senior members discussed Group operations, cadets were given orientation rides in the Air Force Convair trainer which flew Wing staff members to Grand Junction.

SQUADRON NEWS

S/M Allen Hurst, Denver Bronco Trainer, is currently conducting a First Aid class for Denver Senior Squadron members. At the last session an excellent film on mouth-to-mouth artificial respiration was shown.

Several Denver Senior Squadron members were guests of the Mile High Jeep Club sponsored tour which was conducted by the Bureau of Land Management and the Game and Fish Department April 1 and 2. The tour began at Hot Sulphur Springs and followed the Colorado River area. Several large herds of deer were spotted. The various methods used in counting the deer were outlined and future plans for hunting licensing, winter feeding, etc. were explained. Highlight of the tour was when District Game Warden Paul Gilbert dissected a deer, explaining to the interested onlookers what deer actually eat, reasons certain types of winter feed could kill such a wild animal, general principles of wildlife care and management.

C.D. EXERCISE HELD IN COLORADO SPRINGS

Eleven members of the Colorado Springs area Civil Air Patrol Squadron participated in a recent Civil Defense exercise held in Colorado Springs.

Members of Group III Headquarters and the Colorado Springs Squadron joined with civilian volunteers in spending the night at a fallout shelter in the Seventh Day Adventist Church located in the Knob Hill Section of the Springs.

Participation in this type exercise is one of the training facets to prepare members of the CAP in their function of rendering aid to the local community.

The exercise, under the control of Col. Willoughby, Civil Defense Director for El Paso County, began at 7:00 P.M. on Saturday night. The 100 persons reporting to the approved CD shelter located in the basement of the church were met at the door by Fred Stickel, Shelter Manager. Mr. Stickel has been a radiological monitor instructor for 3 years, in addition to his volunteer duties in shelter management. Mrs. Ray Lynch, Training and Education official with the CD assisted Fred in his check-off routine.

The exercise, which was to test the facilities of the shelter in a simulated radiation fallout, lasted until 9 A.M. the following day.

During the course of the evening CAP cadets attempted to maintain communications with a T-34 aircraft piloted by Capt. Don Jeffers in the aerial sampling missions undertaken by him. This aircraft was flown up from Pueblo and was stationed at Peterson Field.

erational techniques and be able to inspect the newest AF aircraft and equipment.

In addition, Lowry AFB personnel will conduct several lectures and demonstrations on the various facets of life on an Air Force Base, and cadets will tour the many facilities.

An extensive entertainment program has been planned for cadets, states Maj. Ohr, including a dance on the final night and a talent show on Friday evening.

The encampment is being co-ordinated with the Air Force by CAP Liaison Officer Maj. Dillingham and Sergeant Smith. "We are very appreciative of the excellent cooperation and assistance we are receiving from the Air Force" says Maj. Ohr, "They are treating us like honored guests, and I am sure our cadets will act in a manner justifying this welcome and the Air Forces efforts to make our summer encampment a very memorable time."

NATL. CAP NAMES CADET NOMINEES

An official list of primary nominees for special activity programs has been received from L.H. McCormack, DCS Operations, National CAP HQ.
